Challenge? Tailoring Experience To Each Individual

Organizing games for a special event often requires everyone to be physically present and also the people for whom it is organized for. If someone was physically not present then adjusting them virtually and with other participants was challenging. There was a need for a one-stop platform that provided a diverse gaming range that could be personalized.

Another challenge was creating an intuitive app that supports various events while maintaining accessibility. Many event-based apps lack these features of personalizing games, sharing achievements, or tracking participants' scores with a game timer.

To make it a success keeping track of the win records and achievements of the participants to make the experience more engaging and competitive.

PartyCade Was Born as a Solution

PartyCade is an all-in-one solution to event gaming. It removed location and physical presence barriers to join a particular event through an event share code that the host can provide to their friends and family. With its amazing features it keeps the games engaging and experience fun and memorable.

Additionally, users can edit and personalize games to reflect the theme, adding a customized touch to each event. This was needed to take the blandness out of the common games. The app also offers a diverse game selection suitable for almost every event.

Game time and winning tracking are introduced in this app to keep records and make the experience more exciting and save the possibilities of fun banter.
